Personal Accountability

The Rent vs Own Challenge: How to step up as a self-leader in times of unexpected change

Rent or Own is an essential foundational step for individuals as we all adapt to a new way of working. Here we explore the mindset & behaviours required to generate radical accountability. We all say we care, yet at these moments – when no one is watching – it can be easy to disengage, stream Netflix, and cut corners. By doing so, we take the easy option and therefore unwittingly create a statement about what we will accept; what becomes the norm.

This interactive session calls for every participant to reconsider how they will take personal responsibility for their own attitudes, behaviours and actions, directly impacting how we navigate ourselves through these unprecedented times. The story each of us tells at the end of this crisis hinges on the outcomes that each of us are prepared to own and be responsible for delivering.

Outcomes:

- Create impact, understanding and a desire in people to truly own their job, career or next step

- Understand the key attributes of someone who rents versus someone who owns

- Explore how neither title or tenure or what we do are indicators of success

- Understand the different levels of personal accountability

- Understand that no matter your role in work or in day to day life you have a critical part to play in both personal and organisational outcomes
